About the Solution

The development and design of this corporate office upgraded their existing facility, bringing in lighter colors and state-of-the-art lighting to help with clear visibility throughout the office spaces. The design also incorporated warm textures of wood accents and color within the furniture, signage, and graphics to help with efficiency and create a happy work environment for their employees.

ASI was brought onto the project by the interior designer in the pre-construction phase nearly two years before completion, assisting in curating all graphic elements of the project, including over 1,500 interior signs and over 100 exterior signs. The interior designer had many ideas for the signage and graphics that helped promote the company brand and its business motto; "It's all about helping people."
